DISCUSSION OF TIMELY TOPICS HELD BY GRANGE

Pomona, No. 22, of Lower Bucks, Meets at Wycombe Baptist Church

MEMORIAL SERVICE

Delightful, Varied Programs Given at Two Sessions

WYCOMBE, Mar. 7.—Pomona Grange No. 22, of Lower Bucks County, met in the First Baptist Church here, yesterday. The meeting was called to order by the Worthy Master, B. Palmer Tomlinson.

The opening song was followed by salute to the flag, and singing of "Star Spangled Banner," with Mrs. Howard B. Austin, pianist.

The secretary pro tem, Mrs. Ralph Magill, called the roll of officers. Pomona Deputy Frank Magill reported that he and his assistants had installed officers of Carversville and Delaware Granges in January, and also made visits to several other granges. The Worthy Master reported having visited several granges, all of which are working smoothly.

Margaret R. Slack, secretary, read reports from the following granges: Carversville, Pineville, Philadelphia, Middletown, Tyro Hall, Delaware Valley. Edgewood report was given by a member of Edgewood Grange, Joseph Briggs.

Memorial services in honor of Sister Rebecca H. Tomlinson, followed. Substituting lay assistant Steward, Mrs. Ralph Magill, and assistant steward Frank Lake, led the chaplain Florence L. Dyer, and Pomona Lillie Wilson to the altar, and Dr. Terry, who carried a lighted candle, where Pomona placed a beautiful spray of roses and snapdragons. The chaplain read the services followed by the following speech by Dr. Terry of Middletown Grange:

"Sister Rebecca H. Tomlinson, the last one of the charter members of Middletown Grange, which was organized March 24, 1876. Nearly 59 years she was a devoted, much-loved member, always attending the meetings when possible and participating in any discussion or business of the grange. Although she had only held two offices in her grange, 'Lecturer' and 'Ceres,' she thoroughly enjoyed every meeting.

"A few years ago she received her gold certificate (given only to members of fifty years standing), of which she was very proud. Now she has gone to the great grange above.

"We loved her, yes we loved her, But the angels loved her more, And they have gently called her To yonder shining shore. The golden gates were open, And a gentle voice said 'Come,' And with farewell spoken, She gently entered home."

Dr. Terry then extinguished the candle and the grange members sang "Abide With Me."

A delicious lunch was served by the Ladies Aid Society of the church. The afternoon session was called about two o'clock. Assistant stewards escorted state overseer, Isaac Gross; state deputy Henry Pickering; Upper Bucks Pomona Master Paul Neese, and Upper Bucks Pomona Lecturer Singleton to the platform. The program was in charge of Lecturer Singleton.

The Lecturer called upon the secretary of Upper Bucks Pomona, Harry Johnson, to read the minutes of the meeting when the traveling gavel had been presented to Upper Bucks. Upper Bucks Pomona Worthy Master Paul Neese made the presentation of the gavel to Lower Bucks Pomona Worthy Master B. Palmer Tomlinson. He said the previous traveling gavels had all had historic values but this one did not seem to have, but is merely to be used for goodwill visitations among granges. Brother Tomlinson accepted the gavel and Lower Bucks will present.

OTHER TOURISTS BARRED, FRANCE ORGANIZES DRIVE TO WIN AMERICANS ANEW

Hotel and Casino Industries Near Collapse As Flood of Money from Abroad Becomes a Dwindling Stream

By EDWARD HUNTER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Mar. 7.—(INS)—French government officials are working on radical measures to stave off wholesale collapse in the hotel and casino industry, following a sharply critical Senate debate in which the tourist situation was painted in the darkest of colors.

Not only do other countries take away the tourists who used to come to France, but the French people themselves are being attracted outside of their own country, declared Antoine Borrel, senator from the Savoie department.

"Last year, 15,000 French people went to Germany, 50,000 to Austria, 275,000 to Switzerland, 85,000 to Spain, 120,000 to Great Britain, 300,000 to Italy," Borrel declared. "Never before did French people travel so much."

He cited government figures which showed that whereas 2,125,000 tourists arrived in France in 1927, only 700,000 came in 1934.

He pointed out the resultant distress of the railways. "In the hotel business," he added, "there were 185 bankruptcies and 150 judicial liquidations last year."

After outlining the losses incurred by the palatial hotels in Paris, he declared:

"The plight of the hotels in the provinces and particularly along the Cote d'Azur is the same."

Profits of gambling casinos showed an equally steady decline, he added. "We receive less foreign tourists, but there are more tourists in existence traveling about the world," he complained.

He disputed the fact that France's adhesion to the gold standard is the main reason for this phenomena. He pointed to Italy as proof, which although remaining on the gold standard has increased its tourists from 1,000,000 in 1925 to 3,500,000 in 1934.

Decline in American visitors isn't the only reason for the distress in the tourist industry.

Germans cannot travel because their government allows them to take only a few dollars out of the country. The same is true of Austrians, Spaniards, Poles and others, all in the same boat.

A Pole, for example, has to pay about $75 for a passport alone.

Because Americans have no such restrictions, France intends to make a drive to win them back. Hence its extensive plans for pro-French propaganda in the U. S.

Attempted Robberies Occur In Cornwells, Croydon Area

A robbery and an attempted robbery availed nothing for a thief or thieves in the Croydon and Cornwells Heights areas Monday night.

At the office of F. A. Simons, Cornwells Heights, a window with a defective lock was raised and the intruder, reaching in, secured an envelope containing post-dated checks from the drawer of a desk. A few papers also contained in the envelope were scattered on the ground outside the office. The attempt was valueless to the robber as nothing but the checks were secured. Discovery of the intrusion was made by George States, yard foreman, who found the window open when he arrived Tuesday morning.

A thief or thieves were routed from the premises of Koplin's Drug Store, Croydon, the same night, when the burglar alarm sounded.

Another Excellent Film Booked For The Grand

A picture which combines magnificence, sheer spectacle, and breathtaking action with the poignance of human drama, Paramount's "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer" comes to the Grand Theatre tonight and Friday night.

There have been any number of screen spectacles based on the lives and adventure of fighting men, but never one of the calibre of "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer." Over four years in the making, it employed more than four thousand actors in scenes shot in the mountain fastnesses of India and in five separate locations in California.

Gary Cooper, Franchot Tone, Richard Cromwell and Sir Guy Standing head the cast of the picture as officers of this colorful regiment. The drama arises from the conflict between Sir Guy Standing, who plays a crusty, hard-shelled colonel, and his subordinate officers.

Cooper and Tone adopt Cromwell, the colonel's impulsive son, as their special charge. When he becomes involved with a Russian girl and is carried off by a neighboring chieftain, Cooper and Tone follow, although the colonel refuses to go to his son's rescue.

They, too, are captured and the chieftain employs torture to wring the secret of an enormous ammunition convoy from Cromwell. The chieftain captures the ammunition and the Lancers, although they face certain destruction, prepare to attack in order to check the revolt which will follow.

At this crucial moment Cooper hits upon a plan, and, first swearing the boy to secrecy on his own shameful betrayal, goes out to blow the fort to smithereens and save the Lancers.

That, in its essence, is the story. But it gives you no idea of the wild, pounding charges, the stirring horsemanship, the suspense and the fascination of glimpses of a strange and unexplored East that make "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer" one of the grandest spectacles ever to be filmed.

The cast, which features only one girl, Kathleen Burke, includes such Hollywood favorites as Monte Blue, C. Aubrey Smith, Douglass Dumbrille, Akim Tamiroff and Colin Tapley.

No amount of praise would be too great for Director Henry Hathaway, a comparative newcomer, for his part in creating the picture.

TO INVESTIGATE DEATH OF NINE

St. George, Utah, Mar. 7.—An inquest was ordered today into the death of at least nine persons who were blown to pieces, burned to death, or struck down by falling timber, when 2800 pounds of nitro-glycerine exploded at the Arrowhead Oil Company's new well, five miles south of here. The bodies of five were recovered during the night. At least four other persons are known to have been killed. County attorney Orval Hafin who took charge of the investigation said that many charred bits of human flesh and bone were scattered about and identification of some bodies would be impossible.

TWO DEAD IN APT. BLAZE

Bridgeport, Conn., Mar. 7.—Two women were burned to death and a score of other persons, including firemen, were injured today when a general alarm fire swept an apartment house here. Twenty persons trapped on the third floor were rescued before the flames reached them. The dead were: Mrs. Nellie Roff, 59, a widow, and Miss Jeanette Roff, 23, a nurse.

PROTEST "GAS" TAX

Harrisburg, Mar. 7.—Protests from almost a million organized motorists against Governor Earle's proposal to boost the gasoline tax from 3c to 5c to raise $40,000,000 in the next two years, were studied by the House Ways and Means Committee today. While spokesmen for the motorists condemned the suggested gasoline tax boost as "unjust and unfair," Dr. L. A. Harr, State Secretary of Banking, told the committee "the Commonwealth for years has helped motorists and the motor industry with highway improvement and now they should, as a patriotic duty, pay their share."

Heads of several automobile clubs and motor truck associations, State grange and oil and gas interests opposed the proposed increase asserting in general it would reduce gasoline and oil consumption, resulting in widespread bootlegging of liquid fuel.

M. Clyde Schaeffer, deputy Secretary of Revenue, told the committee, motorists pay without objection when large oil companies raise the price of gasoline two cents, yet if the Governor asks two cents more for the needy, they cannot pay it. "Florida levies a seven cent gasoline tax and other states collect six cents and five cents," he said.

F. Edward Gaber, Lancaster, president of the State Motor Federation, told the committee past experience indicates the tax will not produce the anticipated revenue needed to balance Governor Earle's $497,000,000 budget.

BRACKEN POST CONFERS HONOR ON DORON GREEN

Present "Citation for Meritorious Service" for Work Done for Post

ONLY TWO HOLD HONOR

A "citation for meritorious service" was presented to Doron Green by members of Robert W. Bracken Post, No. 382, American Legion at the semi-monthly meeting of the post held Tuesday evening in the post home. This is the second time that Bracken Post has conferred such an honor during the 15 years that the post has been in existence. The only other holder of the citation is Burgess Clifford L. Anderson.

This distinct honor was conferred upon Mr. Green for the invaluable service he rendered the post in 1928 when he handled the publicity during the drive for funds, with which the post purchased the Legion home which it now occupies.

Conferring of the honor was a distinct surprise to the recipient. Mr. Green was invited to attend the post meeting and address the members upon some of the historical aspects of Bristol. He arrived at the Legion home about nine o'clock and found a representative group of veterans assembled. His talk dealt mainly with the history of Radcliffe street and particularly with the site upon which the Legion home stands. He also told in detail the complete history of the Bracken Post.

At the conclusion of Mr. Green's talk the presentation of the citation took place with I. Johnston Hetherington representing the post. Mr. Hetherington was the general chairman of the drive for funds at the time of the acquisition of the home.

The citation is framed in walnut and signed by both the post commander and the adjutant.

MANY STUDENTS PARTICIPATING IN H. S. ATHLETICS

More Than the Usual Number Are Showing Keen Interest In the Program

ARRANGE TOURNAMENT

Representatives of the Various Classes Are Included In Activities

It is the belief of many that more students are participating in athletics in Bristol High School this term, and that the program of sports and gymnasium activities which has been outlined by William A. Dougherty, coach, could scarcely be improved upon.

In order to secure maximum activities with a minimum of time and equipment, a consolation basketball tournament was conducted as well as the scheduled intra-mural contest.

Twice weekly, when the varsity played at night, an intramural basketball tournament consisting of 16 teams was conducted. Representatives of various sections of the classes were included. If a team did not win in the first round this group was shifted to

C. W. Winter Announces Local Automobile Show

One of the major automobile events of the season will occur here Saturday when C. W. Winter will stage a special display of the four lines of Buick motor cars for 1935, using cars sent here from the factory for this purpose.

At the same time, it is announced that the special showing will be the occasion for a series of demonstrations designed to show the improvements in riding comfort, performance and ease of control accomplished in the new cars.

The cars are being brought here from the factory at the request of C. W. Winter, who said he believes the display of this group of cars, some of which were featured in the automobile shows of New York and Chicago, would claim the interest of motorists of this area. The special showing will continue until Wednesday.

"Throughout the period of the showing," the announcement says, "cars will be made available to those who wish to drive and ride in them. There have been many advancements in engineering and design looking to the improvement of riding comfort, the luxury of interiors and all around performance. On the Buick engine and chassis alone more than 67 refinements and improvements have been made for 1935. These changes and their effect on the operation of the automobile may best be learned by driving the new cars, and it is one of the purposes of this special 'automobile show' to have interested motorists get behind the wheel."

The four lines of Buick motor cars to be placed on display include the series 40 and series 50, in the lower and medium price group, the series 60, in the upper medium field and the series 90, a group of de luxe Buick cars that, although not as costly, compare with the finest custom made cars now being produced.

Hold Two-Hour Hearing In Auto Accident Case

Two attorneys battled away for two hours last night in the Municipal Court here when a hearing was held as the result of an automobile accident which recently occurred. Eight witnesses were on the stand and some of them were called in rebuttal.

The attorneys battled away before an interested group of spectators and verbal bombs were hurled as counsel for both the defendant and prosecutor argued their cases. Sarcasm was rife and the attorneys never lost an opportunity to make "cutting" remarks about each other.

The legal gladiators were J. Leslie Kilcoyne and Hugh B. Eastburn. The former represented the defendant, Lander E. Dodds, Lafayette street, while the latter was counsel for Leon Puccio, proprietor of a local bakery.

Mrs. Lander Dodds owns a truck engaged in hauling coal from the mines and at the time of the accident the truck was driven by her husband. It is alleged. The truck and a truck of Puccio collided near Penn and Pond streets, sometime ago. Puccio charged Dodds with drunken driving, reckless driving and driving on the wrong side of the street. Dr. J. Fred Wagner, one of the principal witnesses for the defendant, said that in his opinion Dodds was not under the influence of intoxicating liquor when he examined him.

Justice of the Peace, James Guy, presided at the hearing and discharged Dodds upon the drunken driving charge but fined him $10 and costs on each of the other two charges.

The battle between attorneys became so heated that the charge of perjury was freely mentioned concerning some of the witnesses. The spectators stood throughout the two hours much amused by the attorneys.

SYNOPSIS

Young and pretty Cathleen McCarty, secretary to the wealthy Jasper Ingram, attracts her employer's son, Seward. Realizing the difference in their social positions, Cathleen discourages Seward's attentions, but he is persistent and she finally makes an appointment with him. Marian Alspaugh, frivolous wife of Homer Alspaugh, becomes infatuated with the Marquis d'Alhué. Cathleen keeps her appointment with Seward. He had expected to carry on a shallow flirtation, but he soon realizes she has too fine a character for anything cheap. Seward presents Cathleen with an expensive bracelet which she plans to return, but the gift disappears from her dresser.

CHAPTER XIV

Marian Alspaugh dominated now by her desire to please and dazzle her newest lover, looked with jaundiced eyes at the little car she had driven for two years. Surely it was now not good enough for a marquise. At its maker's nearest salesrooms, she inspected new models. A larger and far more impressive car took her fancy. Its length, its eight cylinders, the dulled gloss of its midnight blue finish and its darling radiator-cap were irresistible, but it was far beyond her means.

It was a shock a little later in the day to meet Dorothy Holbrook driving what appeared to be the identical car she had been admiring. When Marian made an envious reference to it, Dorothy, to her amazement, burst into tears. "We bought the damn thing before Jack took his last cut. It's so far beyond our means, it's just a joke. It uses so much gas I take the bus when I want to go to town. It's paid for, thank God, but try and get your money back on a used car! I wish to heaven we could sell it, and get a little used Chevie or Ford, for a couple of hundred dollars."

Marian's eyes brightened as she scented a bargain. Dorothy's car was as good as new. And there needed to be no red tape about buying it, no necessity for Homer's signature on a legal paper. She could present him with the accomplished fact. The two women soon came to an agreement. Marian's car, surrendered to Dorothy, would count as a first payment of three hundred dollars. Beginning, therefore, not this month but the month after, Homer would pay Jack Holbrook a hundred dollars a month until the car was paid for. The matter of interest was ignored. What was of interest between friends? The question of insurance was also passed over. Triumphantly, Marian drove the new car home.

If a Marques was too good for an old car, he was too good for her old clothes and so she made reckless purchases at the stores where he had charge accounts. Unfortunately these were not the shops she would have preferred to patronize, expensive and extreme; if ever she fell in love with a dress, it was sure to be in the most exclusive shop window. One day she pulled up before such a display and stood staring at a creation that might, she thought, have been designed for her. Only inside that frock could she realize to the full her haunting dream of dancing with d'Alhué.

They had danced once or twice in crowded restaurants, in street clothes. She had loved that, of course, but it had only tantalized her because the ecstasy of such an experience should have been so much keener. When Mrs. Ingram issued invitation to the dance she was giving for Millicent Hinchey, Marian, invited. Now she simply had to have the enchanting creation that had fascinated her. The only question now was, had d'Alhué also had an invitation. Learning that he had, she went into the exclusive shop and priced the dress. It was two hundred and fifty dollars, but Marian, dissembling her dismay, insisted on trying it on.

HOUSING BOOM TO OCCUR THIS SPRING

Analysts Foresee Modernization Gains as County Forges Ahead

One of the biggest modernizing booms "of all time" is rapidly getting under way, according to building analysts and experts close to the construction industry of the nation, the Federal Housing Administration has been informed.

Given as reason for this opinion are the following factors in present-day modernization impetus:

The easy payment, "no-money-down" features of the Federal Housing Administration's modernization loan plan.

The approach of Spring and Summer ideal building and repair seasons.

The nation-wide set-up of financial institutions as lending agencies under the modernization credit plan.

More widespread understanding of the true nature of the Federal Housing Administration's plan of financing and more general appreciation of the profits open to financial institutions through the making of "character loans" for modernizing.

A noticeable "modernization consciousness" on the part of the general public, resulting from steady and frequently repeated publicity of all phases of the modernization credit plan.

The fact that contractors, builders, carpenters, dealers and sub-contractors have become "sufficiently sold" on the Better Housing Program, and are now making serious efforts to merchandise building materials and sell the idea of renovating to the general public.

The introduction into the building trades of the installment selling method.

The Housing Administration also has been notified that there is a widespread understanding of the difficulties that attended the organization of the Better Housing Program and that the building trades are conscious of the fact that the housing movement was slow to get into full swing because of the magnitude of the project. Now that the foundation has been well laid, the sentiment on every hand is that the Spring of 1935 will mark a boom period in modernization in the United States that is without precedent in history.

Sale of building materials is on the upgrade; sales methods are being taught to the widespread members of the same trades; every impetus that is available is being placed behind the drive to "step up" housing and modernization activity in every village, town, hamlet and metropolitan center. It is predicted authoritatively that the Spring of 1935 will bear out these contentions.

Housing Questions and Answers

Q.—I have a garage in my basement. The kitchen and dining rooms above the garage remain 10 degrees cooler than other rooms in the house. How can this condition be remedied?

A.—If the garage does not have a plastered ceiling, then an insulating material can be fastened between or to the lower edges of the joists. If the ceiling is plastered, one way to insulate the floor above it would be to make holes in the plaster between the joists and then, by blowing in rock wool, fill the spaces between the ceiling and flooring. If there is bridging between the joists, sufficient holes should be made in the ceiling so that the insulation can be blown in without being blocked by the bridging. Another method would be to nail furring strips, about one by two inches in size, to the ceiling. Space them about 16 inches apart. The nails should be driven through the strips and plaster into the joists. Then nail the wall-board to the furring strips. The ceiling can be painted or kalsomined, as desired. Where legally required, fire-resistant insulating material should be used.

It is practical to weather-strip garage doors, also, strips of rubber or felt nailed around them assists in preventing drafts.

Q.—The electric fuses in my house are blowing out continually. Can you tell me how to locate and correct the cause?

A.—First see if you have been overloading the circuit by plugging in too many electrical appliances at the same time. Then examine your electrical appliances to see if a short circuit has been caused by defective equipment or worn out cords. After that, if fuses continue to blow out, call in an electrician and have him examine the wiring system.

Q.—How can I keep my refrigerator waste pipe from clogging up?

A.—In the first place, the refrigerator waste line should be open, not connected directly to the house plumbing system, as the slime prevalent in refrigerator waste pipes would probably clog up the plumbing waste pipe. The refrigerator waste pipe should empty into a floor drain, which should be cleaned frequently and the waste pipe flushed with hot water to remove the slimy substance. The refrigerator itself, including the waste pipe and trap, should be scoured and scaled out occasionally to keep it sanitary.

Some home owners are reported as favoring a dark color for painting the walls behind their book-shelves. This tends to reduce the contrast between the color of the books and the back wall. It also reduces the unattractive appearance of rows of books of uneven height.

HOUSING HINTS

Switches Avoid Stumbling

Many home owners find it advisable to install electric switches at the main door of each room in the home. This procedure eliminates the inconvenience of walking into dark rooms and stumbling.

Foil Corrosion

Window, door and porch screens made of non-corrosive materials are an excellent investment to make when purchasing the necessary equipment for modernizing an existing home or building a new one. Their durability makes for permanency and eliminates the necessity of replacing them at frequent intervals.

Economy Hint

Considerable expense can be saved during construction when it is possible to join the bathroom and kitchen on the same floor, separating them by a partition. This makes for economy in expenditures for materials and labor.

Bathroom Location

Bathrooms adjoining one another, or placed in tiers one above the other from the basement to the attic, minimize installation costs. Saving in material and labor costs are effected when they are so installed.

Discussion of Timely Topics Held By The Grange sent it to Lancaster County Pomona on April 13th at Kirkwood.

A reading, "Hello," was given by Harry Landis, Richland; Keeping Friends, Mrs. Warren Oberhulzer, Richland; song, "Nature's Message," Hazel Martin, Chalfont; reading, "Experiences of Traveling Salesman," Hobart Myers, Plumstead; piano solo, Rath Wentz, Richland.

A talk on "Why Gas Tax Should Not Be Increased," was given by George Wilson, Chalfont. Mr. Wilson felt increasing gas tax would cause trucks and buses such a burden that it would be showing discrimination against them in favor of the railroads. He feels a graduated income tax would be a more fair method of taxation.

In his subject, "Why gas tax should be increased," R. Martin, Chalfont, remarked in part, "I feel the gas tax should be increased because everyone who uses gas and uses the roads should pay tax on gas. It is only a small amount each time but this tax money should all be used for road building and repair, and not be used as the bill reads, 'for roads and other purposes.' What are these other purposes and why should gas tax be used for them? If we put people on relief to building roads at a minimum wage, we would be receiving some return for the money given them, and most of the people also would be more satisfied to work instead of receiving a dole."

Other numbers were: Reading, "Spring Hunt," Alice Myers, Chalfont; vocal solo, "Smile When You Are Lonesome," Mrs. Harry Landis, accompanied by Florence Martin; reading, "Youth and The Model T," Neal Loux, Richland; Beethoven's Farewell to Piano, Florence Martin; talk by Eli Fretz, "Would Washington and Lincoln be considered great if they were living today?"—"The circumstances of their times made them great. Washington would really have preferred to have stayed on his plantation and tilled the soil, and had a home-life with his family, but was drafted to the Army by the conditions. If he was living today and would hear of munition makers trying to arrange for larger armament he would denounce them, and do all in his power to prevent it.

"There is not the crisis today there was then, each colony was a separate government but at last the leadership of the great men of those times got states united and a wonderful constitution drafted which after these years has only had twenty amendments."

"Lincoln was a champion of the down-trodden people, and if alive today would be in the senate working for improvement of conditions of the poor laborer and farmer, and would look with disfavor on the present program of destruction of crops and food-stuffs, cotton, wheat, pork. We need leaders of that type today."

A piano solo, "Dancing Girl," was given by Helen Shull; singing, "The River of Time."

The grange approved the resolutions of the legislative committee of 6% tax on corporations, opposed sales tax and approved Senator C. J. Buckman's bill asking for an appropriation to repair the aqueduct at Point Pleasant.

There will be a regional conference of Master and Lecturers and any grange members interested at Tyro Hall Grange Hall, March 23rd, at 10:30. Lunch will be for sale, and an afternoon meeting will occur. Speakers will be State Master Boak and State Overseer Gross.

Health talk of the Pennsylvania State Department of Health and published by the Bristol Borough Board of Health.

PREVENTING DIPHTHERIA

"Few conquests of Science have been so spectacular and complete as the rout of diphtheria. And this victory has most firmly established the value of serum treatment both in its preventive and curative phases. However, toxin-antitoxin or its successor, antitoxin for immunization, and antitoxin for timely cure, are brilliant achievements of which the general public even yet are not fully aware," states Dr. Edith MacBride-Dexter, Secretary of Health.

"Before the discovery of the diphtheria germ by Klebs and Loeffler in 1883-4, forty out of every hundred victims succumbed. Today, including that small minority unjustifiably opposed to serum therapy, the rate is but five per cent.

"In Pennsylvania in 1906 the diphtheria deaths aggregated 2438. In 1934 there were less than 200 fatalities. This amazing mortality drop can be credited first, to the discovery of diphtheria's cause; and second, to the great serum weapons invented to combat it.

"As indicated, toxoid is the immunizing or preventive agent now usually employed. Only one injection of this serum is necessary. However, three to four months are required for the body to develop immunity. At that time the Schick test is applied to determine the results of this preventive treatment. This harmless and painless procedure is performed by injecting into the upper layers of the skin a minute drop of the diphtheria toxin. If within forty-eight to seventy-two hours there is no redness at the place where the toxin was injected, or perhaps a small blister and some hardness of the skin, immunity has been definitely established.

"However, when a case of diphtheria exists antitoxin is the only treatment that will save life. Also, to be effective, it must be given early and in large doses. Delay is usually caused by parents failing to realize that any sore throat may actually be diphtheria.

"Certain misconceptions regarding antitoxin should be removed. For instance, antitoxin never produces paralysis or bad hearts. These conditions are a direct result of the diphtheria poison. They signify that the antitoxin was given too late or in insufficient doses. Thus, while antitoxin can counteract poison it cannot restore vital tissue that toxins have already destroyed.

"It follows that preventive medicine in the form of toxoid and curative medicine as represented by antitoxin perform magnificently if given their proper chances to do so. There is every reason in the world to employ these agents, and no logical reason against them."

FASHION PARADE

By Margaret Garrahan
L. S. Staff Correspondent

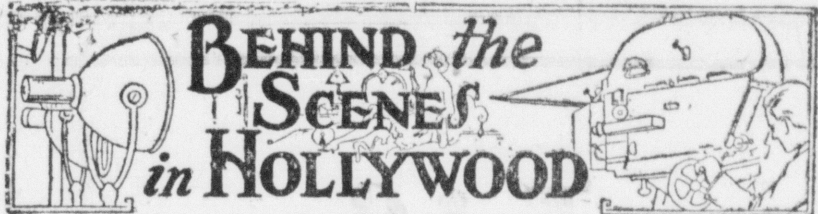

NEW YORK—(INS)—It is just as we expected—the ladies are rebelling and the bra's and panties that passed for beach costumes last summer are out-t-t-t. And instead it's to be (and is in the Southern and California bathing mecca) honest-to-goodness swim suits, with nudity minimized, and multitudinous variety of clothes to wear over them for loiling on the sand.

Coats and tailored slacks and shirts (or jackets) predominate here, with many of the slacks of the three-quarter length. And if you're going South or to the coast, don't, don't even consider beach pajamas. They're simply n. g. . . .

White, heretofore considered only for Spring and Summer and brides, is appearing everywhere about the metropolis these evenings. Seen, in Madison Square Garden at the races the other night; three of them! . . . evening gowns, all of white pebbly crepe, and all with bolero jackets. It's due for wide play, too, in hostess gowns and negligees for the coming season, appearing in satins, rough crepes, summer velvet and triple sheers . . . and in lace, over pale blue or tea rose satin . . .

Navy blue goes down another path, showing up this time in hosiery. Always a "dyed to order" shade, it's going in the regular stocks now . . . Colors in bathing suits are gayer this year, by the way, with royal blue leading, and medium blues (with light medium and aqua shades breaking about 50-50), white, yellow, deep rose and pink running up in order named. At last—the pantie slip with a detachable pantie! The pantie is buttoned to an adjustable elastic inside the slip—and you can buy as many additional pairs as you want . . . The slip has a brassiere top and is bias cut, with a fit that can't be beaten.

NEW YORK—(INS)—From all appearances the fur cape trend for Spring prophesied here some time ago is to be one of the most overwhelming ever. Capes are everywhere—particularly those of the waist and fingertip lengths, and, while designated particularly for early Spring wear, are HOLLYWOOD—Bing Crosby, incorporated, is to have a neighbor. Close to the suite of three offices, out of which the crooning stars business affairs are handled, Paramount will supply another suite for Carl Brisson. Only it will be bigger. The working staff of Crosby, Inc., consists of Bing's two brothers, Everett and Larry, and a pair of secretaries.

Brisson has cabled his English manager, Raymond Mould, to close shop and move lock, stock and barrel to Hollywood. The star employed 12 people in his London offices.

This because of Brisson's manifold interests abroad. To name a few, there are a string of English "flat-top" houses, a block of apartment buildings in Copenhagen, the maintenance of a charity ward in a London hospital and the copious correspondence connected with the Carl Brisson Fan club, which has 60,000 members in England. Carl even publishes a magazine for his club.

Quite trick said Hollywood when Jean Harlow blossomed out with her handbag flaunting her initials five inches high and in solid gold.

Interesting story behind those gold initials too. They are made from nuggets Jean's step-father, Marino Bello, brought back from Mexico.

A round-the-world honeymoon gave the Mervyn Leroy's a taste for travel. Doris and Merv are now planning another European trip after he finishes directing Marion Davies in "Page Miss Glory", the first picture that the Cosmopolitan star will make under the Warner Brothers banner.

According to present plans, "Page Miss Glory" goes into production the middle of next month.

Doris and Merv will sail for Europe in July. They'll visit London, Paris, Rome and the Swiss resorts. While in Rome, Merv is to have an audience with Premier Mussolini.

Although the trip is primarily a vacation, he also plans to do some research for his future pictures at Warners.

The police of those 16-year-olds of today! A recent visitor to Hollywood was the youthful niece of a prominent film executive. At a party, someone told one of our most famous male stars that he was the youngest star's ideal movie actor.

Wishing to be nice to the executive's niece, and perhaps a little out of masculine vanity, the star got himself introduced to the girl and turned on the famous charm.

After a bit, he asked: "Which of my pictures did you like best?" The youngster calmly replied: "I've never liked you on the screen. I think you over-act."

What famous foreign star wears false finger nails in private life as well as on the screen?

LATE FLASHES
Gloria Stuart, who expects her baby late in July, was born on the Fourth of July and married in July.

After practicing seven weeks on a dance routine, Mary Brian has decided to call off her personal appearance tour in favor of several good Hollywood offers. . . .

Lionel Barrymore, can you believe it, has started wearing a beret. . . . Already in Hollywood for a month, Cy Bartlett's sister, Nan, still hasn't been inside a studio and doesn't want to get a job in the movies. She is so pretty, too. . . .

There's a guy employed by the Coconut Grove who does nothing but clean the leaves on the artificial coconut palms. The management's insurance against some feminine diner suddenly discovering a spider letting itself down on a web. . . . And W. C. Fields has just gotten around to reading "Father Goose", which his pal Gene Fowler, dedicated to him. You'll bowl to read the note he wrote Fowler.

DID YOU KNOW
That Paul Lukas represented his native Hungary in the saber duels and middleweight wrestling bouts at the Olympic games held in Stockholm in 1912?
